Investment Objective

The Fund seeks to outperform equity returns with equity-like risk through a well diversified portfolio across asset classes.

This share class is hedged into USD. The aim is, as far as possible, to replicate the performance of the GBP share class. This is achieved by entering into forward currency contracts equal to the net asset value of the USD share class.

Fund Manager Commentary

Escalating trade tensions between the US and China dominated markets during the month, Bond yields fell heavily across all durations, with the US 10-year Treasury closing at 2.25% and the German equivalent moving back into negative yield territory. In the US, shorter-term economic indicators remain mixed. Those parts of the economy that are more directly impacted by recent interest rate increases continued to fall, and many of the forward-looking business confidence surveys weakened further. In the UK, Mrs May finally declared that she was to step aside. Markets have begun to worry that a new, potentially hard line prime minister makes a 'no deal' Brexit outcome in October more likely. This uncertainty resulted in a weak month for sterling, which fell around 3% versus the dollar. Political uncertainties can also be found across Europe as a whole. The fund's equity exposure was the main driver of its negative return, though its fixed income and alternative allocations were modestly positive offsetting some of the shortfall. Equity markets fell across the globe as investors decided to reduce risk. In fixed income government bonds added value, while credit was flat overall. The alternative trading strategies and gold exposure both delivered positive returns.
